Jerzy Żurawiecki

SEO content specialist with 6+ years of experience creating high-performing content for tech companies, now built largely with AI agentic tools like Claude Code. Specializes in content that ranks in traditional search and gets cited by AI answer engines (GEO/AEO), turning complex software and IT concepts into clear, conversion-focused copy for blogs, websites, and landing pages.

Experienced in a wide range of content types that drive organic traffic and inbound leads, from long-form guides and product pages to customer stories and landing pages. Holds an MA in English Philology and brings a sharp editorial eye to every piece.

Comfortable owning website content end-to-end with little direction, from independent topic and keyword research to briefs, publishing, and optimizing existing pages. Works closely with product, development, and design teams and moves fast by building AI into every step of the content workflow.
